

Exploring Innovation: BETA China 2024 Workshop with Honda Motor

Guangzhou, China, September 19, 2024

On September 19, 2024, BETA China hosted the 2024 Technology Exchange Workshop at Honda Motor (China) Technology Co., Ltd. (HMCT), adding a successful milestone in our collaboration.

Engineers from both the HMCT's vehicle body development and NVH departments actively participated in the workshop that featured a combination of technical presentations and live demonstrations. Our team of engineers showcased advanced solutions and practical applications in areas such as NVH, optimization, data management, machine learning, and more.

The sessions were highly interactive, with HMCT engineers raising interesting questions and showcasing their solid expertise in simulation, along with their eagerness to explore the advanced features of our software suite.
